CEO JIM MARKS LEAVES THE CPCU SOCIETY

MALVERN, Pa., May 6, 2011—The CPCU Society announces that its CEO, James R. Marks, CPCU, CAE, AIM, left the Society effective May 5, 2011. In doing so, Marks completed continuous service with the Society which began in 1986, including a decade and a half as its head of staff.

“We are enormously grateful to Jim for the wise and effective leadership he has given the Society over so many years,” said Warren L. Farrar, CPCU, CLU, ChFC, 2010-2011 Society president and chairman. “The Society is the prestigious and dynamic organization it is today in the property and casualty insurance industry substantially because of Jim’s tireless effort and enormous talent.”

For the immediate future Society officers will take a leading role in guiding the organization while procedures for selecting a successor are put into place. Farrar added that service to the Society’s members will remain the top priority and will not be adversely affected while this process goes forward.

About the Society

The CPCU Society is a community of credentialed insurance professionals who promote excellence through ethical behavior and continuing education. The Society’s more than 25,000 members hold the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU®) designation, which requires passing eight rigorous undergraduate- and graduate-level examinations, meeting experience requirements, and agreeing to be bound by a strict code of professional conduct. The CPCU designation is conferred by The Institutes.
